

City Center grand opening

Thank you to everyone who came out to celebrate the grand opening of City Center on March 26. The new civic campus, which includes the new City Hall at 808 Martin Luther King Jr. St. and Council and Court building at 510 W. Ninth St., centralizes several offices that were in buildings scattered throughout the city. In addition to providing needed facility space, the campus features public art installations, including a glass tile mosaic titled “El Arbol (The Tree)” by artist J. Muzacz and “DayScape Wonder” by artist Kevin Greer in the Council and Court building lobby, as well as “Bluehole Park” by artist Mike McConnell in the City Hall lobby rotunda. The City Hall lobby also features rotating quarterly art exhibits sponsored by the Georgetown Arts and Culture Board. The first selection features art by local artist Carol Light.

New irrigation schedule

MANDATORY TWO-DAY PER WEEK WATERING SCHEDULE

In April, Georgetown City Council approved a new two-day watering schedule that is now in effect. This schedule applies to all Georgetown Utility Systems water customers using an automatic irrigation system. Violations of the watering schedule may result in fines.

ADDRESSES ENDING IN:	MAY WATER THESE DAYS:
1, 5, 9	Tue. and/or Fri.
2, 4, 6, 8	Wed. and/or Sat.
0, 3, 7	Thu. and/or Sun.

As always, there is no automatic irrigation allowed on Mondays. This day is reserved for system recovery and maintenance.

For more information on this and other water conservation methods, visit gus.georgetown.org/water or call Customer Care at (512) 930-3640.

Adult summer reading at the Library

Adults can visit the Georgetown Public Library, 402 W. Eighth St., this summer for a slate of space-related programming! The library will be hosting three out-of-this-world events throughout the summer, kicking off June 12, at 7 p.m. with a screening of “The Farthest,” a documentary following the revolutionary Voyager spacecraft. On July 10, at 7 p.m. there will be a mobile indoor planetarium complete with a show covering the wonders of the night sky. Finally, on Aug. 14, at 7 p.m. the final adult summer reading program: Space Jam Finale. Participants can enjoy space-themed drinks, snacks, crafts, and a photo booth.

These events are free and open to the public ages 18 and older. Contact the library at (512) 930-3551 or library@georgetown.org for more information.

CITY EVENTS

Animal Shelter at Mulligan's

JUNE 7

The Friends of the Georgetown Animal Shelter are hosting an evening of live music June 7, from 5 to 8 p.m. at Mulligan's Restaurant, 150 Dove Trail in Sun City. Art at the Library

The Georgetown Public Library will host two art shows opening in June, including:

- 1 "Nature at Its Best" by Sherry McRae from June 4 to July 1. This show will be located in the first floor café gallery. McRae's nature photography explores the places, people, and creatures she encounters throughout life. There will be a free artist reception June 12, from 6 to 8 p.m.
- 2 "The Beauty All Around Us" by Jan Frazier from June 16 to July 19. This features the artist's work from plein-air locations and studio work featuring places she has lived and traveled, animals, gardens and still life. There will be a free artist reception July 5, from 4 to 6 p.m.

Recycling participation count

The City of Georgetown is counting how many residents participate in the City's residential curbside recycling program. The count will take place June 16 through 30.

The City reviews residential recycling each year in June to ensure the service is meeting the needs of the community. Each morning, staff will count the number of recycling carts at the curb to determine how many people participate in recycling, if there are enough collection trucks, and what changes need to be made to increase participation.

To be counted, residents should place their recycling carts at the curb on their regular recycling day during the count period. To find your collection day and to learn more about recycling in the City of Georgetown, visit recycle.georgetown.org.
