Holocaust Remembrance Day event

MAY 5

The Georgetown Public Library and Congregation Havurah Shalom of Sun City are hosting a screening of "Ahead of Time: The Extraordinary Journey of Ruth Gruber" Sunday, May 5, at 2 p.m. in observance of Holocaust Remembrance Day.

The film tells the story of Ruth Gruber, who earned a doctorate degree at age 20 in 1931, before becoming a foreign correspondent and photojournalist at age 24. During her career, she escorted 1,000 Holocaust refugees from Naples to New York in a secret war-time mission in 1944, covered the Nuremberg trials in 1946, and documented the ordeal of the refugees aboard the ship Exodus in 1947. The film's executive producer Patti Kenner will introduce the film and conduct a Q&A following the showing. Admission to the event is free; refreshments will be served. For more information, visit library.georgetown.org.

City comprehensive plan update continues

In February, City Council adopted new goals for the Plan, and in March, the Steering Committee began work on the Housing Plan. This spring and summer, the project team will be working on goals for overall growth, the City's gateways, and the Williams Drive area. ### Call 811 Before You Dig

Call 811 before you dig. It's a free call, and it can save a life. When you call 811, within 48 hours, utility companies are notified about your intent to dig and will send a locator to mark utility-owned underground electric lines, pipes, or cables in the work area, free of charge.

Utility companies will mark the location of their underground lines with paint, flags, or stakes using a standard color code, which you can see at Texas811.org. Customers should be aware of any unmarked lines not owned by a utility, such as a customer-owned connection to a water meter, a wastewater service tap, or an irrigation system.

If you are digging and damage a utility line, call the utility immediately. If you know it is a Georgetown Utility Systems line, call Customer Care at (512) 930-3640.

Just remember—know what's below. Call 811 before you dig.
