Fight the Bite

Georgetown residents can reduce their risk of contracting mosquito-borne illnesses by getting rid of standing water around houses and by using insect repellent. Here is a simple way to remember how to "Fight the Bite" using the 3-Ds of mosquito safety:

Drain: Drain standing water around your home (such as flowerpots, pet dishes, and bird baths), so mosquitoes don't have a place to breed.

Dress: Dress in long sleeves and pants when outdoors (especially at dawn and dusk).

Defend: Use an Environmental Protection Agency-approved insect repellent.

Mosquito bites may cause illness. While most people may not feel sick, some cases of mosquito-borne diseases can cause serious illness or death. Children, people 65 and older, and those with certain health conditions may be at a higher risk of getting sick if they become infected. For more information, contact the Williamson County and Cities Health District at 512-943-3660 or mosquito@wilco.org, and sign up for weekly activity reports at wcchd.org.

July is Lost Pet Prevention Month

Did you know one in three pets becomes lost at some point? Having some form of identification increases a pet's chances of being reunited with its owner.

ID tags: Physical tags show that a pet is owned and give the finder a way to contact the owner. You should include your current phone number at a minimum. Check with local pet stores or look online for personalized tags.

Microchips: Microchips are critical tools for returning pets that don't have physical tags. Make sure you keep the information up to date with the microchip company. Georgetown Animal Shelter offers microchipping for $20.

Pet licenses: The City of Georgetown requires pets be licensed. Upon registration, you will receive numbered tags that identify your pet. Pet registration can now be done online. Find details about how to register your pet at pets.georgetown.org/overview/licensing-your-pets.

Make sure your pet has identification or make sure their existing IDs are updated. Find more information about lost pets at pets.georgetown.org.
